- Section 8. Fiscal Responsibility:
All trusted servants should give receipts whenever cash or money is given to them. All committee chairpersons who handle funds should have a receipt book for this purpose. - Section 9. Financial Disclosure
Any member of N.A.S.U. can request to review financial statements regarding any and all subcommittees at their respective business meeting. This is done via written request within 72 hours' notice.

Article XVI. Theft Policy

- Section 1. Most of NA's money gets where it is supposed to go. NA members serving in positions of financial responsibility for the fellowship volunteer countless hours to make sure everything adds up. All of these things happen because NA communities and members utilize responsible accounting practices, and carefully selected trusted servants who believe in honesty, and have experience in handling money.
- Section 2. Theft: Safeguarding Funds
Theft can most easily be avoided by consistently and diligently following responsible financial principles and practices. Most theft of fellowship funds occurs when precautionary measures are not in place, or are in place, but are not used. The very best safeguard against theft is to remove the opportunity to steal.
- Section 3. Selecting Trusted Servants
Our Fourth Concept tells us "Leadership qualities should be carefully considered when selecting trusted servants." These qualities include honesty, integrity, maturity, and stability, both in recovery and in personal finances.

Substantial clean time and financial stability should be required for positions where money is handled. Clean time requirements should not be waived for these positions, and questions regarding financial stability should be asked when candidates are nominated.

Section 4. When Safeguards Fail

If we develop and follow sensible financial procedures, we will make it almost impossible for anyone to misappropriate or steal NA funds. If someone does steal from us, the first question we should ask is one of ourselves: Did we adhere to all of our accounting procedures and safeguards? If the answer is no, we as a service committee also bear substantial responsibility for the theft. We will want to review our procedures to ensure that they are complete and resolve to adhere to them in the future.

When theft does occur, regardless of procedures and policies, our initial reactions may range from denial to anger or outrage. However, we don't want our initial emotional reaction to dictate the outcome of the situation.

- a. Step 1: Thoroughly review all books and financial records, to make sure the funds were actually misappropriated. Can it be definitely determined how much? By whom? What failing in the accounting procedures and safeguards allowed this to happen?
- b. Step 2: Once you have verified that funds were indeed misused, and have uncovered the person(s) responsible, go to them and ask for their side of the situation. Within one week of the loss being reported, the Area Chairperson will appoint an ad-hoc committee to investigate. Contact the individual, and ask them to meet with the committee. It may be that the individual's actions that resulted in the loss of funds are the result of misunderstanding, accident or ignorance, rather than from an actual intent to steal.
- c. Step 3: After all sides have been heard, a break in the meeting format is encouraged to allow all present time to get in touch with their own Higher Power and focus on spiritual principles, before coming back to decide on the best course of action.
- d. Step 4: Courteously encourage the member to make amends, which can then provide healing for all involved. If the individual admits to the theft and agrees to pay back the missing funds, a restitution agreement can be developed. Such an agreement can include regular payments at any interval acceptable to all involved, though it is best to not drag out the process unnecessarily. Most agreements specify regular weekly or monthly payments until the full amount is repaid.

Depending on the amount of money involved, a legally binding document, (utilizing legal advice if necessary), may be drafted, suitable for signing and witnessing. It should also include remedies if the payments are defaulted on.
- e. Step 5: The status of the collection or actions taken by the committee and the individual will be reported by the Ad-Hoc Chairperson to the ASC Board.

- f. Step 6: Again, balancing spirituality with responsibility, we have found that it is best to remove the individual from his or her service position, and not consider the person for another position until he or she has dealt with the issue through the process of the steps.

Section 5. Options

If the individual is unwilling to meet with the committee, use registered mail and send a letter explaining that an audit of financial records has been performed; facts show the individual is responsible for the missing money; repayment is expected, a repayment schedule is suggested, and consequences are stated if the individual does not respond to the letter. A copy of this letter should be kept for future legal action, if necessary. If the individual refuses to repay the money, or agrees to a plan but does not follow through with the agreement, or if the person has disappeared, it may be appropriate to take further legal action. The decision to take legal action is an option that does not compromise traditions or spiritual principles, but it should be our last resort, opted for only when everything else has been tried. We strongly suggest that the decision to prosecute be thoroughly explored before going ahead.

Section 6. Bad checks

In order to collect on bad checks, you must first notify people of a bad check policy. For conventions and other NA activities where money is taken in, a simple sign near merchandise and registration stations must state: "$10.00 fee on all returned checks", or something similar. Usually bad checks are not large amounts by themselves, but collectively, they can cause serious financial problems to any committee, or even convention. Fairly simple procedures are recommended for collecting on bad checks:

- a. Step 1: Notify the individual of the bad check by phone or mail, including bank charges, if applicable. Ask for the amount of the check, the return check fee, plus any bank fees you have been charged as a result of the default. If you send a letter, wording should be polite and nonjudgmental.
- Note about phone calls:*
If you decide to contact the individual by phone, remember to be courteous and non-threatening. Most bad checks are simply mistakes or oversights, and most individuals are highly embarrassed when discovering that a check has bounced.
- b. Step 2: If there is no response within one week, a follow up letter or phone call should be made. Letter wording could be slightly stronger than in the first letter.
- c. Step 3: Within another week, a third phone call or letter should be sent. Letter wording should be polite but forceful, requesting compliance, or spelling out the specific legal consequences of failure to comply. If the matter has not been resolved from these efforts, options include:
- (1) Writing off the check as uncollectible.
 - (2) Further legal action, such as filing a small claims suit.

Section 7. Afterwards; Resolution And Recovery

Even if a successful resolution is reached, many of us will still be angry and hurt, and may want to shun the person involved. Although this is understandable, we have to remind ourselves that NA's primary purpose is to carry the message to the addict who still suffers. We also need to remember that our disease will surface if we are not diligently working a program of recovery.

As NA members practicing spiritual principles, we should all support the individual in continuing his or her recovery; utilizing meetings, a sponsor, and the Twelve Steps. We should offer the same love and support we would to someone who has relapsed by using drugs. At the same time, in the future, positions should not be offered to individuals who have not made appropriate amends.
